ALUMNI-SPONSORED SEMINAR SERIES PRESENTS...

“DEVELOPING CANCER THERAPEUTICS IN AN EVOLVING ONCOLOGY LANDSCAPE: BREAKTHROUGHS IN IMMUNOTHERAPY, CELL THERAPY, AND BEYOND”

by Wendy Clemens, PhD

Vice President, Early Development Oncology Bristol Myers Squibb

Dr. Clemens leads a team of scientists that develop novel oncology therapeutics from pre-clinical stage through proof-of-concept. These innovative therapies are designed to activate the immune system to kill tumor cells in patients with advanced malignancies with high unmet medical need. Dr. Clemens has over 20 years of experience in the pharmaceutical industry where she has served in various scientific roles focused on immunology, infectious disease, and oncology at several pharmaceutical companies. Dr. Clemens will discuss her work and her professional journey.

TUESDAY | NOVEMBER 19, 2024
12:30 PM | ZOOM PRESENTATION

All WPU students are welcome. Zoom links will be emailed.
