

Exemplary cooperating teachers development

To develop and maintain a cadre of exemplary cooperating teachers

2006-2007

Workshops for cooperating teachers were held on campus during both the fall and spring semester. Two workshops are now held each semester. The first workshop in both the fall and the spring was designed as an introduction for new cooperating teachers "The Role of the Cooperating Teacher in Supporting the Student Teacher". In the fall the second workshop for both new and returning cooperating teachers was "Supporting the Student Teacher in the Inclusive Classroom", presented by Anthony Coletta and Sharon Leathers. The second workshop in the spring was "Student teachers Speak Out on the Effective Traits of Cooperating teachers" facilitated by Anthony Coletta.

2007-2008

Workshops for cooperating teachers were held on campus during both the fall and spring semester. Two workshops are now held each semester. The first workshop in both the fall and the spring was designed as a introduction for new cooperating teachers "The Role of the Cooperating Teacher in Supporting the Student Teacher". In the fall the second workshop for both new and returning cooperating teachers was "Helping Student teachers to Differentiate Instruction", presented by Dr. Anthony Coletta and the second workshop in the spring was a "Student Teacher Panel" moderated by Dr. Anthony Coletta.

2008-2009

Workshops for cooperating teachers were held on campus during both the fall and spring semester. Two workshops are now held each semester. The first workshop in both the fall and the spring was designed as an introduction for new cooperating teachers "The Role of Cooperating Teachers in Supporting the Student Teacher". In the Fall, the second workshop for both new and returning cooperating teachers was "Helping Student Teachers Locate Resources" presented by Dr. Anthony Coletta and the second workshop in Spring, "Helping Student Teachers Help Children Through Social Action Activities" was presented by Dr. Alison Dobrick and Dr. Coletta.

2009-2010

Workshops for cooperating teachers were held on campus during both the fall and spring semester. Two workshops are now held each semester. The first workshop in both the fall and the spring was designed as an introduction for new cooperating teachers "The Role of Cooperating Teachers in Supporting the Student Teacher". In the Fall, the second workshop for both new and returning cooperating teachers was "Hearing Student and Student Teaching Voices" presented by Dr. Anthony Coletta and the second workshop in Spring, "Reflections on Cooperating Teacher Best Practices" was presented by Dr. Coletta.